Man Attacked During Christening Festivity; Police Question Two

George Christo is Found In Unconscious Condition In Field

CLAIMS HIS WIFE WIELDED BOTTLE

Three Other Men Involved In Case; One Arrested, Search for Others

Two persons, one man and one woman, were being held by Salem police today, and search was under way for two others, alleged to have been involved in the assault of George Christo, of Cleveland, late Sunday night, during a christening operation at the home of Mrs. George Christo, 34 West Liberty st.

Christo was found lying in an unconscious condition in a field near his property, about 9:30 p.m. last night, by William Girch, 24 West Liberty, and Peter Herman, 26 Wilson st. Police were summoned and Christo was taken to City hospital where he was found to be suffering from serious lacerations about the head and a badly bruised left arm.

Accuses Wife

Mrs. Christo and John Grell were arrested by Patrolman Michael Walsh on charges of suspicion and taken to city jail. Grell was later taken to Lisbon by Chief T. W. Thompson for questioning by county judges.

Charges his wife with attack on him and striking her over the head with a bottle. His wife, he says, was assisted in her attack on him and two other men, one of whom he says is named Webster. Patrolman Wilbur Hiddleston was called to conduct further investigations in the case by Mayor Phil Hiddleston this morning, and arrest of the woman's son-in-law, whose name is not known to authorities here, on charges of suspicion.

A jug, containing one and one-half quarts of alleged whiskey, was recovered by Welch and Reardon, on the house was searched. Mrs. Christo, when questioned by Mayor Hiddleston this morning, charged her son-in-law with conducting a christening proceedings, with the use of a five-gallon can of whiskey, had been demolished by her approach to the home.

Serious Charge

Christo, after having been given treatment for his wounds, was taken to city jail and a suspicion was lodged against him, but his condition was such today that he was again placed under a doctor's care.

Hiddleston stated that a charge of assault and battery or a charge of death with intent to kill probably would be preferred against Mrs. Christo and the three men involved in the case. At the present Grell and Mrs. Christo are being held on suspicion charges, pending further investigations and the outcome of questioning of Grell at the county jail today, according to police.

Christo after he objected to a man paying attentions to his wife during a dance. His wife, the police states, remonstrated with him to leave her alone, but he refused and she is alleged to have struck him with the bottle, a charge which was admitted to Hiddleston this morning.

May Reopen Golden Case

Christo then ran out of the house, he was followed by the three men, he caught him. He states they beat and beat him, then left him alone. (Continued from Page 1)

SIX BEING HELD FOR HOLDUP JOB IN AKRON STORE

Revolvers and Checks In Wrecked Auto; Four Men In Hospital

Cleveland, Sept. 16.—Traced to a hospital here following a head-on holdup were checked by Cleveland authorities today.

Police are attempting to determine if they are the bandits who staged a holdup of an Akron confectionery store yesterday in which 25 men and women were lined up against a wall and robbed of nearly $800 in money, checks and jewelry.

The men gave their names as Frank Gerardi, 21, Rose Baratto, 22, Tom Zinale 21 and John Richardson, 22 all of Cleveland. Two other men who appeared at the hospital to visit the injured men were held for investigation. They are James Grissman, 30, and Eugene Hoffman, 23, also of Cleveland.

Descriptions of the bandits who pulled the Akron confectionery store holdup were checked by Cleveland authorities today. Police intimated they believed the gang is the same which has recently been staging holdups in Lorain.

Automobile wreckage found on a Shaker Heights rd led to the apprehension of the four alleged gunmen. They were found in St. Luke's hospital, being treated for minor injuries received in the crash.

Lieut. Bert Tilson of the Cleveland police, who investigated, found three revolvers in one of the wrecked automobiles. Two of them were loaded. The discovery of checks bearing Akron signatures led police to believe that the occupants of the automobile may have been implicated in the Akron robbery.

700 GASOLINE PUMPS ALONG COUNTY ROADS

County Sealer Counts 175 Filling Stations And About 700 Pumps

Lisbon, Sept. 16.—"The gasoline and motor oil business has grown to vast proportions in the last 10 years, and like the automobile and truck business, has been accepted by the country at large as a very necessary business of our everyday life," County Sealer of Weights and Measures William H. Barr declared today.

Back in 1918 Columbiana county, outside of East Liverpool city, had about 100 gasoline pumps listed on the county records, whereas today approximately 700 pumps and meters have been catalogued in the same territory. In addition to this record there are over 250 pumps used in the sale of lubricating and fuel oils.

Still In Infancy

The state of Ohio has had a strenuous time during the last five years in standardizing oil and gasoline measuring equipment, having to do with pumps, meters and liquid measures. Some of the gasoline pumps are hand operated, others are operated by air pressure or electric motor and some by gravity, and with gasoline of so many different gravity tests, the problem of the state is no small one, it is said.

"Vast as this business has grown to be in the last 10 years, it is still in its infancy," Barr said. "With aircraft coming into favor, it takes some vision to forecast what the gasoline business may be 10 years hence."

"Ten years ago four or five oil companies supplied all the gasoline and motor oils used in Columbiana county, but today 20 large refining interests are supplying the demand in Columbiana county. In addition there are a few dealers who buy tank car lots."

175 Filling Stations

"Ten years ago only 15 different models of gasoline pumps were in use in the county, whereas today there are over 150 different models of pumps and meters, and this record does not include those models used for the dispensing of motor oils."

There are 175 gasoline filling stations in the county at present controlling about 700 pumps.

All gasoline pumps, meters and oil pumps are tested at regular intervals in Columbiana county.

It is the opinion of inspector Barr that within a very short time a number of additional gasoline stations will be established in the county for the servicing of aircraft solely.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH IN HOUSE

One Dies While Efforts Are Made To Rescue Toledo Mother and Her Two-Year-Old Child

Toledo, Sept. 16.—A fire at Monroe, Mich., just across the Ohio state line, near here, early Sunday morning claimed the life of one woman and a Toledo mother and her child were rescued from almost certain death, according to reports here today.

Hundreds of persons who were enroute to church in the Michigan town were attracted to the scene of the fire and they watched neighbors carry Mrs. Joseph Putty, 18, and her daughter, Rosemary, 2, to safety.

Trated on the rescue of the Toledo mother on the rescue of the Toledo mother, Mrs. Ray Sheely, 24, was trapped in the house. She died two hours later in a hospital.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The blaze had gained headway when it was discovered in the Sheely home, which was destroyed.

Two Safes Stolen, Robbers Annex $40

East Liverpool, Sept. 16.—Robbers yesterday took $40 from safes belonging to the Enterprise Laundry Co. and the Laughlin station of the Pennsylvania railroad here.

The safes were found in an abandoned automobile which had been stolen from L. F. Stokesberry of Lisbon.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR PARLEY ON NAVY REDUCTION

France, Italy and Japan Criticize the British-American Program

NOTICES SERVED BY OTHER POWERS

Franco-Italian Jealousy May Block Plans To Limit Navies

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES

Washington, Sept. 16.—Although the completion of the Anglo-American naval agreement has removed the largest obstacle in the way of further world-wide naval reduction, strong indications were forthcoming today that the five-powered conference to be held in London in December is not going to be any love feast.

Administration officials were surprised and a little shocked today at the sharp criticism of the British-American program voiced in the French press, and the "notices" served that the other powers, France, Italy and Japan, do not intend to set back and allow Great Britain and the United States to dictate the size of their navies.

The criticism thus far has all been in the press, but the subsidized press of Europe, particularly of France and Italy, usually takes its color from the government in power.

Keep Them Informed

Both President Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald, who is coming to Washington two weeks hence to complete the naval accord, have taken meticulous care throughout the British-American negotiations to keep the other powers informed of each step in the exchanges. This has been done, not by written notes or memoranda, but by informally acquainting the ambassadors in Washington and London with the progress, enabling them to report to their governments. Paris, Rome and Tokio at all times knew what was going on.

It is noted here with some uneasiness that even before the call for the five-powered conference has gone out that the French press is "serving notice" that France will not accept naval parity with Italy. And it is also noted that the Italian press, undoubtedly reflecting the policy of Mussolini's government, is similarly serving notice that nothing short of parity with France will appease Italian sentiment and national aspirations.

Two warrants were issued in the office of Justice of Peace M. K. Zimmerman in Lisbon this morning for the arrest of Phil G. Hiddleston, mayor of the city of Salem, on charges of assault and battery and carrying of concealed weapons.

The warrants were issued after Clyde Libert, of Salem, filed two affidavits in the justice's court charging Hiddleston with attacking him at his home on Broadway Saturday night.

Libert alleges that Hiddleston struck him on the head with the butt end of a revolver.

No action had been taken up until noon today by Justice Zimmerman in serving the warrants.

Hiddleston was questioned on the matter at noon, but refused to comment on the case.

RANCHER KILLED IN FOREST FIRE

Portland Fights Fire As Ashes From Forests Shower Streets

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 16.—Wm. Roe, rancher of the Vannorsburg-Hawkinson section, was burned to death early today when a forest fire, whipped by an east wind, swept over the mountain side on which his home was located and ignited the buildings.

Roe was reported to have lost his life while making an effort to save his house. His son, William, Jr., 11, was painfully burned in an attempt to rescue his father. The mother also suffered severe burns.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 16.—With a dense pall of smoke hanging over this city and ashes showering the streets, all available men were being rushed to the fire lines near Portland to combat forest fires.

High wind was again whipping the blaze out of control reports from foresters stated.

Three thousand acres of virgin timber on the slopes of Mt. Hood had been reduced to a desolate, smoldering waste during the week end.

HUNTERS SCOUT FOR SQUIRRELS

First Accident Reported As Season Opens; To Close October 1

Hunters and squirrels scrambled hither and yon in Ohio woods today, as the open season on that animal began with the midnight. Sportsmen will have just 13 days to bag their game as the season closes October 1, and no hunting is allowed on Sundays.

And while the optimists tramped over the hills and dales in search of the wary little "nut-eaters," the pessimists predicted that there would be the usual toll from accidental gunshots.

The first hunting accident was reported from Forest, near Kenton, William Lodge, 30, of that village, was shot through the jaw by a 22 calibre rifle bullet as he and three others were practicing shooting. The other youths were given a sound reprimand by Hardin county authorities.

Wooler, Sept. 16.—Wayne county's oldest hunter, who took to the field this morning with the opening of squirrel season, is George Kirkendall, 90, of Orrville. He was in the woods of this county when dawn lifted his gray hair. Kirkendall has been a "nimrod" of the woods since boyhood.

Old Lisbon Pumper On Exhibition

Fire pumper used by the "bucket brigade" of Lisbon back in 1835 was hauled on a truck to Sebring Saturday and featured in the firemen's home-coming parade.

The hand pumper is declared to be the oldest piece of equipment of its kind in Ohio. It was bought at Philadelphia by Joshua Hanna at a cost of $485.39, and its side equipment consisted of 12 buckets.

Recently the pumper was taken into the street and it threw a stream of water to a height of 50 feet. The equipment was the oldest shown at the Sebring festival.

FRENCH TROOPS IN GERMANY AS BRITISH DEPART

Rhineland Population Is Incensed Over This New Occupation

London, Sept. 16.—New complications loomed today in the Pan-European efforts to liquidate problems hanging over from the war with the revelation that exodus of British occupational troops from the Rhineland is being followed by entry of French troops into the German territory.

On the heels of the departure of the first British troops from Wiesbaden, one of the most important occupied towns, has come official intimation that French soldiers are to be stationed there to take their places.

The Daily Express correspondent at Wiesbaden, in a message to his paper today, declares that the entire Rhineland population is incensed over the new occupation, coming out of a clear sky just when residents of the town were bidding a none too sad farewell to the "Tomnies" who had made Wiesbaden their home since the close of the war.

The correspondent declares that the length of time the French troops will remain is indefinite as "all kinds of diplomatic complications have to be sorted out."

News of the French re-occupation caused considerable surprise here. Although it is pointed out that the action is entirely orthodox and that France is perfectly within her rights in sending forces into the newly-evacuated territory.

GASTONIA NEAR NORMAL AFTER TERROR REIGNS

Seven Men Held to Grand Jury In Mob Murder Of Mrs. Wiggins

EXPECT PROBE TO INVOLVE OTHERS

State Has Nolle Prossed Charges Against 8 Communists

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 16.—Spontaneous flares of bloodshed, lynch law and terrorism over America's newest communist-capitalist battle ground today clogged the judicial machinery of two counties.

Detention of seven men in the mob murder of Mrs. Ellie Wiggins, a young mother of five children, in Gastonia, brought the number of defendants in cases growing out of the recent Gastonia textile strike to 52.

Late yesterday the seven were held over on $1,000 bond for grand jury action as a result of a coroner's probe. The woman was shot by a mob which chased 123 workers from a communist mass meeting that 100 deputized vigilantes nipped in the bud.

Probe Continued

The coroner's probe has been continued until Saturday. Solicitor John M. Carpenter, who is aiding in the inquiry, promised that many others would be drawn into the net of circumstance before the investigation ends.

South Gastonia, which Saturday afternoon resembled the spectacle of a war front, apparently has returned to a state of near normalcy.

Meantime in Charlotte 14 Gastonia citizens, including three policemen and 11 loyal mill workers, were being given a preliminary hearing growing out of an anti-communist demonstration at Gastonia Monday night.

The state nolle prossed charges against eight communists held on a charge of attempting to smuggle arms and ammunition into Gastonia. This was regarded as a signal victory for the "Red" faction although the state reserved the right to reopen the case at a later date if it should so desire.

The defendants set at liberty by the Nolle are C. M. Leil, C. D. Saylor, Dewey Martin, Taylor Shytle, John Gibson, Elley Rich and George Saul.

DROUTH AND INSURANCE

Although the contention of Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, that prohibition has helped bring the insurance written by American life insurance companies to more than $100,000,000,000, is bound to bring out more or less facetious comment, it can not be held without foundation.

Dr. Cherrington presents figures, arrived at by means of a survey made under the direction of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, which show that, while it took American life insurance companies seventy-nine years to have in force life insurance totaling $50,000,000,000 while the liquor traffic was legalized, that total has been doubled in six and a half years under prohibition.

The doctor strengthens his case by further figures which show that, while immediately before prohibition the life insurance companies of the United States were writing an average monthly total of $395,000,000, this total has gone up by leaps and bounds, and that, in May of the present year, new insurance written reached the amazing total of $1,179,470,000.

There can be no question but that prohibition, from a purely economic standpoint, has proved something in the way of a blessing to the country. The country as a whole is enjoying greater prosperity than was known when open trafficking in liquor was tolerated by law. There is a higher standard of living today than ever before and unquestionably greater and better provision for the future is being made through insurance, but it is hardly fair to assume that the economic saving effected through prohibition is so great as has been repeatedly claimed by ultrasentimentalists in the cause of temperance. Against the enormous savings they cite, there must be charged some enormous losses, for against prohibition must be charged in great degree the evils of rum-running and bootlegging and the great degree of crime resulting therefrom. It is no more than fair to deduct from the claimed saving effected through prohibition a goodly portion of the monetary losses resulting from the criminal practices which have developed since the prohibition law became operative. The cost of added police protection, the added cost of prison maintenance and court procedure and the cost of property destroyed; to say nothing of the life loss resulting from the attempted enforcement of the liquor laws.

As a matter of fact, it would prove something of a task to arrive at the economic balance resulting from the saving effected by reason of prohibition over and above what it has cost the country. That there is such a balance, we firmly believe; but as to its size, that is largely a matter of guesswork.

THE HUMAN FACTS

In New Haven, the oldest street car company employs John Quinn, who started to drive a horse car in 1886, was rewarded for his long service recently by being allowed to select his run for the winter. Mr. Quinn selected a route running along the seashore, and settled down to further enjoyment of the performance of his duties. He is reaping the harvest of a lifetime of service, but has not yet been forced to retire.

Henry Ford made a statement recently that elderly men should not be the objects of discrimination by employers and that the men over 40 in industry were frequently the most valuable. Mr. Ford's statements are interesting, but not cheering, because they will in no way effect what has come to be the common practice among manufacturers.

Pension systems and old age insurance are suggested remedies, but their weakness is shown in the fact that postal employees, almost without exception, seek extensions of their service after the time that they might retire on part pay. There is something deeper involved than the mere acquisition of daily stipend. The worker is loathe to ad-

KEEP COMMON CURES
READILY ACCESSIBLEBY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

In every household, in every factory and shop, in every place where men and women work, there should be materials to use in case of accident or sudden illness. On the market are a number of "first aid kits," packed out with the several things which have been found most useful in emergency.

DR. COPELAND

The American Red Cross describes such an outfit. Several commercial concerns supply them, but if you prefer, you may assemble one of your own selection. In a magazine, the other day, I saw a kit advertised at the very low cost of a $1.50. This is compact enough to carry in the pocket or to place in the side pocket of the automobile.

Let me quote from the advertisement—it is interesting. The claim is made for the outfit that it contains tested and standard remedies for the relief of: Burns, bruises, colds, constipation, cuts, dizziness, earache, fainting, fever, grip, headache, heartburn, indigestion, insect bites, neuralgia, neuritis, scalds, shock, sunburn, toothache and numerous other ailments or injuries.

Perhaps this is a bit enthusiastic. But if they will do half as much as this, the remedies will be well worth while. Anyhow, it is an excellent idea to have in a convenient place just such a collection.

If I were arranging a first-aid outfit for my own use at home, I should keep the articles in a transparent glass jar. Then I could see and quickly get the one required. Among the articles would be a 3 per cent iodine solution for application to broken skin. A 7 per cent solution of iodine is useful to paint around a wound or over a bruised surface.

White wine vinegar for burns from lime, potash or ammonia, and an ointment for ordinary burns, are other important things. Aromatic spirits of ammonia for fainting and Jamaica ginger for chilling are useful remedies.

Bicarbonate of soda and castor oil are other useful drugs. Adhesive plaster, absorbent cotton, and a variety of bandages, as well as several packages of gauze and a two-foot square of flannel cloth will serve useful purposes.

A teaspoon, several paper cups, a medicine glass, two or three medicine droppers, a dozen assorted safety pins and a tourniquet should be included. Some wooden tongue depressors, a bottle of boracic acid solution for damaged or sore eyes, a few wooden applicators and a pair of scissors complete the list.

Leave the outfit in one definite place, and now and then explain its uses to the family. Some day an emergency will arise and then you will appreciate having these first aid remedies at hand. And don't forget to take them along when you travel!

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, September 17, The federal operations for this day hold auguries of conflicting and doubtful circumstances, and events. While there is promise of a sudden change of benefit, yet there are some sinister and threatening conditions to be disposed of, with potential dangers, disagreements and misinterpretations. There may be conflicting features in personal relations in frequent vocations.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of contradictions and perplexities. There should be new openings of advantages but all affairs are in danger through fraud, division and misinterpretation. Personal relations or correspondence may be a mitigating factor, and resolution may aid to final success. NO INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS AIM OF OHIO DRIVE

Columbus, Sept. 16.—A campaign for "no industrial accidents in October" is being initiated by the Division of Safety and Hygiene as a final effort of the year to reduce the total injuries for 1929.

Supt. Thomas P. Kearns has appealed to every employer carrying state insurance to make an effort to reduce the number of accidents during the month. Special posters and placard cards for the campaign have been issued by the division.

Results of the "no accident" campaign in April were given by Kearns as the reason for the present drive. Accidents were greatly reduced during that month, the records show.

Because of decreasing number of accidents in the first six months of the year, the Industrial Commission reduced the premiums in 29% of its classifications, other reductions are planned as soon as the number of accidents show further decrease.

Owa-Ton-Na Surely A Blessing To Me, Says Local Man

Corrects Disorders of Twelve Years Standing Which Were So Severe They Had Me Worried

MR. CHAS. SCHUMACHER

Another remarkable victory for Owa-Ton-Na is the case of Mr. Chas. Schumacher, Fernside Road, N. W. Canton, Ohio. Mr. Schumacher is an auto mechanic for the Summer Creamery, tells how this fine old Indian Remedy conquered when everything else seemed to have failed. He says: "I certainly was discouraged when I started to take Owa-Ton-Na as I had taken about everything that I had heard of that might help me and took Owa-Ton-Na as a last resort.

"I got so bad I couldn't sleep on either side or flat on my back, but had to be propped up in bed. My stomach burned like a ball of fire. I could hardly eat even the simplest foods. Hot fluid would come up into my mouth, gas and bloating spells were terrible. Sometimes I could hardly get my breath. Gas would crowd my heart so badly that I felt faint. Is it any wonder that I was discouraged when nothing seemed to relieve me? I would have terrible headaches and dizzy spells. I was getting weaker all the time.

"You can imagine how anxiously I kept on taking Owa-Ton-Na when I got some relief from the first bottle. Gradually I could feel my stomach getting better when this fine old Indian Remedy got to work. Food didn't distress me as much as it did, and I could get some sleep at night. My bowels started to function normally, now they act regularly every day. My stomach feels fine, I can eat anything I want to and don't suffer afterwards. Headaches and dizzy spells are gone, in fact, I feel like a new man. I can't praise Owa-Ton-Na too highly, and I will be glad to tell anybody what this fine old Indian Remedy has done for me."

Owa-Ton-Na is sold in Salem at Floding's, Bolger & French and J. H. Lease drug stores.—Adv.

HOLMAN TO PLAY ON STATE TEAM

Flashy Quarterback Held To Be Eligible, Committee Reports

Columbus, Sept. 16.—Allen Holman, shifty and flashy young quarterback of the 1928 Ohio State university football team, whose standing has been in doubt, is eligible to play on this year's squad, according to word received here today from the western conference eligibility committee.

The question of Holman's eligibility arose last spring when he declared he had played on the football team at Parsons college, Fairfield, Iowa, and that he played on the Iowa State university team, after leaving Parsons, Iowa.

He came to Ohio State two years ago and was a backfield star last year. According to Western conference rules, an athlete can play on a varsity squad for only three years.

Holman, with the ruling of eligibility committee, will enter his third year of Big Ten football.

The committee held that Holman was eligible inasmuch as Parsons college was then a Class B college; that Holman came to Ohio State on his own initiative; that he received no credits from Parsons college; and that other athletes from Parsons college had been accorded similar privileges in Big Ten schools.

M. E. CHURCHES RAISE $3,672,000

Reports Given Today At The Northeast Ohio Conference

Cambridge, O., Sept. 16.—Churches of the Northeast Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church raised $3,672,000 in the conference year, just closing, according to preliminary figures compiled by Rev. Eugene Rush of Delaware, chief statistician and his assistants.

This is a loss of $351,000, as compared with the last conference year when $3,923,000 was raised.

The loss is accounted for by the fact that large amounts were raised in the last conference year for the building of two million-dollar edifices in Cleveland, the new Epworth-Euclid church and the Church of the Saviour.

$1,146,392 For Ministers

The $3,672,000 raised does not include money raised by the Sunday schools, ladies' aid societies or Epworth Leagues.

During the year the churches raised $1,146,392 for ministerial support, including ministers' salaries, conference claimants, district superintendents and bishop's apportionments.

Last year they raised $1,141,800.

For other current expenses, aside from the above claims, a total of $781,460 was raised, against $774,840 last year.

A grand total of $1,167,400 was raised for church benevolences and missions, both home and foreign, against $1,055,000, or a gain in this department of $112,000.

Included in the $1,167,400 is $120,890 raised by the Women's Foreign Missionary society and $116,000 raised by the Women's Home Missionary society.

Last year these societies raised $135,000 and $123,000 respectively. During the conference year, a total of $577,000 was raised for building improvements against $552,000 last year.

Membership Declines

The total number of communicant members is reported as 177,779 against 181,846 last year, a net loss of 4,067.

While the district superintendents, in their report made at the opening of the conference, said that there were approximately 10,000 accessions to the churches, the net loss for the year was accounted for by many removals by letter of transfer, deaths and the fact that many churches now place in an inactive list persons whose names have been on the church rolls but who cannot be located.

Air-Rail Service Is Resumed After Search For Plane

Columbus, Sept. 16.—Service on the T. A. T. Coast-to-Coast Air-rail service, which was suspended 10 days ago when all planes of the company were sent to search for the ill-fated "City of San Francisco," was resumed here today.

An 18-passenger plane took off for Kansas City with 10 passengers. Service was temporarily stopped when all the company ships were ordered to join in the search for the "City of San Francisco," in New Mexico and Arizona.

Eight persons were found dead in the wreckage of the "City of San Francisco" after the greatest air hunt in the history of the country. After being returned to their home stations, the planes were given a thorough overhauling.

Monoplane Still Up In Endurance Test

Indianapolis, Sept. 16.—The Indianapolis Flamingo, all metal monoplane, completed its 36th hour aloft at 8 a. m. today in the attempt to break the world's record for sustained refueled flight now held by the St. Louis Robin with a mark of more than 420 hours.

Lieutenants Walter Peck and Laurence Genaro are pilots of the endurance plane.

TROUBLE AHEAD

ahead in this Franco-Italian jealousy. Both countries have been engaged in hot competitive naval building in the last few years, and both claim the Mediterranean as their particular sphere of influence.

French Objection

It is not disputed here that but for French objection the original Washington conference eight years ago undoubtedly would have limited auxiliary naval ships, as it did capital ships, and perhaps abolished submarines altogether. The other powers were willing, but France, smarting under the comparatively minor role accorded her in capital ships, refused to go along.

Both President Hoover and Premier MacDonald have consistently stressed the patent fact that the success of the Anglo-American accord hinges entirely upon the willingness of the other powers to go along in a world-wide agreement. The United States and Great Britain cannot drastically limit their respective navies if the other powers are left free to build freely.

Phillips Church 100 Years Old

Phillips church, three miles south of Salem, just west of the Salem-Lakewood road, has just celebrated the centennial anniversary of its founding. The building shown above was erected 71 years ago.

HUNDREDS MEET

church, Depot st., Salem, for about 10 days and during that time baptized 40 people.

"Out of this action arose the Phillips church, Robert Phillips, an influential citizen, learned in the gospel of Scott, was among the converts. He opened his own house, where the people found shelter to meet.

"Preachers came, among them being J. E. Gaston, J. H. Jones, Campbell and others, and soon the congregation sprang up, which has continued unto this day.

Organized in 1829

"They organized as a church in the summer of 1829 in the home of Robert Phillips, with A. G. Hayden and William Schooley the first elders. It was some time after this before they had a regular place to worship. They met in an unoccupied house owned by James Phillips. This house was destroyed by fire. This James Phillips was a son of Robert Phillips, and his house was just this side of the present home of John Snyder.

"A site was selected, being the side of the present church, and was donated to the congregation by Robert Phillips, in the year 1837. Robert Van Vorhes was the first regular pastor. In the year 1840, Harrison Jones and Sullen Hayden labored with great results in the meeting.

Building 71 Years Old

"To accommodate user increasing number it was decided to build a larger one than the little frame building and in 1858 the present house was built and has been used for a place of worship for 71 years. The parking place was getting too small so another strip of ground was donated to the church by Isaac Phillips.

"In the year 1892 S. B. Teegarden moved here and was pastor of the church, and also elder. He held five meetings here previous to this time. "Barnum Reeves and family came from the neighborhood in 1873. He labored hard here. He conducted revival meetings here previous to this time, his first meetings being held in 1851. In all he held 10 meetings and baptized 80 members of the Phillips church."

Pastor Presides
Rev. James Ridgely, pastor of the church, presided at the services. Frank Reeves and L. Nold, elders composed the executive committee for the celebration.

The negro fled after shooting Howard, apparently fearing that the reports of gunshots had raised an alarm.

"MADONNA OF AVENUE A"

That things and people are not always what they seem has been intimated a number of times by a number of individuals.

This fact is aptly illustrated in "Madonna of Avenue A," the latest Warner Brothers special production starring Dolores Costello, now at the State theater, where it is playing to capacity houses.

Louise Dresser, who plays the part of the heroine's mother, is to all outward appearances a rather austere, reserved society woman. Her own daughter, in fact, believes her to be so, and wonders why she is never permitted to visit the home of her parent in New York City.

The girl has been supported in boarding schools by her mother, who makes her money by keeping a low East Side dive. An unexpected turn of affairs reveals the truth and then begins one of the most vivid and appealing stories ever screened.

In addition to Miss Dresser, the players supporting the beautiful Miss Costello are Great Withers, Otto Hoffman, Douglas Gerrard, Lee Moran, and a host of other people in lesser roles.

"Madonna of Avenue A" was directed by Michael Curtiz, and the scenario was written by Ray Doyle after an original story by Mark Canfield.

"TENDERLOIN"

Crock melodrama, with swift tense action, breathless suspense and the beauty and emotional genius of bewitching Dolores Costello—that, in short, is "Tenderloin," the Warner Brothers feature, now playing at the Royal theater.

Miss Costello in the star role gives a brilliant performance as the dancing girl who falls into the hand of one of them, in this melodrama of the New York underworld which was adapted from a Melville Crozman story by E. T. Lowe, Jr. The picture is directed by Michael Curtiz.

Crock melodrama is the fad of the public at present, and this melodrama is one of the very best yet screened. Warner Bros. have made several pictures of this type, all of which have met with favor. There was the "Third Degree," starring Miss Costello; "Brass Knuckles," starring Monte Blue, and "The Girl from Chicago," co-starring Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy.

Stark realism is added to "Tenderloin" by the superb portrayals of underworld characters given by Conrad Nagel, Mitchell Lewis, John Miljan, Pat Hartigan, Fred Kealey, George Stone, Dan Welheim and Dorothy Vernon.

TRADE BOYCOTT FIGHT RENEWED

Moslem Tribesmen Killed In Running Battle With British

Jerusalem, Sept. 16.—Sixteen Moslem tribesmen were reported killed and many others were said to have been wounded in a running battle with British troops northeast of Nazareth, according to word received here today.

A detachment of British soldiers was rounding up armed bandit Arabs when it encountered the tribesmen.

After an exchange of shots the tribesmen began to flee and the British forces pursued them.

The British suffered no casualties.

London, Sept. 16.—Strenuous efforts were being made by the British authorities in Jerusalem today to bring an end to the trade boycott between Jews and Arabs which has existed since outbreak of the recent inter-racial clashes.

Scores of picketers have been arrested, according to a Central News Dispatch from Jerusalem, and stern punishment is threatened to any persons conspiring to obstruct trade in the holy city.

The Jewish-Arabian trade is entirely deranged. For days Jews and Moslems alike have picketed each others' shops endeavoring to prevent entry of customers.

Widow Attacked By Masher She Spurns

Cincinnati, Sept. 16.—A 50-year-old widow, Mrs. Kate Zwicker, of this city, is suffering a badly lacerated face here today, following an attack by a man yesterday.

In her report to police, Mrs. Zwicker, stated that her assailant accosted her with a "hello babe," and that when she refused his attentions he struck her, knocking her down.

When she called for help, he jumped into an auto and sped away, Mrs. Zwicker said.

New Ohio State Coaching Staff Greets Football Squad Today

Willaman Expected To Introduce New System To Players This Year

For the first time in 17 years, Dr. W. Wilce, former head football coach at Ohio State, will not be on hand to greet the scores of candidates for berths on the grid and Gray varsity, when opening practice sessions are held today.

The Wilce reign is over at the Ohio university. In its place there is what is undoubtedly one of the finest coaching staffs in the Western Conference. Sam Willaman, who played his first football at Salem High school; the Godfrey, another former Salem City grid star; Don Hoover, one of Knute Rockne's famous "four horsemen" of a few years ago, and George Bauer, giant Minnesota alumnus and late coach of Colgate, form the new regime.

Willaman, who for three years has been the chief aide, will introduce the Scarlet and Gray's prospective varsity aggregation in its annual organized workout of the year this afternoon, and will immediately start the re-organization of Ohio State's football system. A new plan will be brought to the fore, probably one where random play is more daring attack, trick combinations, and a more versatile system of play than has been used in years.

15 Veterans Expected

Fifteen wearers of the varsity "O" are expected back at today's opening round-table session, where all the boys will greet their new

Convicted Solon's Wife Will Run

Cleveland, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Letha C. Fleming, wife of former Councilman Thomas W. Fleming, who is under sentence to Ohio penitentiary following conviction on a charge of bribery, formally announced herself as a candidate for the Cleveland city council today.

Mrs. Fleming has been active in Republican political circles here since she came to the city in 1912. She will be a candidate from the 1st, the same district represented by her husband when he was in office.

"I am not running for council to outshine my husband in office at all," Mrs. Fleming declared. "I'm running on my own merits."

CUBS TO CINCH PENNANT TODAY

Bruins Expected To Trim Dodgers In Second Series Clash

New York, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Chicago, already suffering badly from baseball fever, will no doubt be delirious before night-fall.

For it seems extremely likely that Joe McCarthy and his bands of Cubs will steal into the sick-room and lay a pennant beside the patient—an act that has yet to cool the brow of a baseball-mad city.

Judging from yesterday's performance when they shot the Robins full of holes the Cubs should get the game they need to clinch the pennant today. Their big trouble will be getting past Dazzy Vance who is slated to win his first one up to the plate.

The spirited dash of the Giants to grab second place remained in a state of arrested motion, they splitting a double header with the Cards, winning the first 4 to 0 before dropping the second, 6 to 4.

Cincinnati shoved Boston further into the cellar by taking two games, 6 to 1 and 4 to 3.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Hudlin Blanks Yankees

Yankee followers, loyal souls that they are, trooped 40,000 strong to the stadium to watch the shattered champions split with the Indians. Tom Zachary held the visitors to four hits in the opener while his comrades eked out a 1 to 0 win.

Willis Hudlin went Tom one better in the second, allowing the Yanks but three singles as his beloved tribe smashed out a 10 to 0 victory. Zachary's triumph was his eleventh for the season against no defeats.

Detroit and Washington fought eight innings to a 3-3 tie in the second game of a twin bill after the tigers had taken the opener, 16 to 2. Darkness called a halt to the tie game.

The Sox, Red and white, broke even in two games, the former winning the first, 5 to 4. The latter the second, 3 to 2.

Chalfant Annexes Golf Tournament

William Chalfant won the annual golf tournament at Highland park course, near Canton, Sunday, defeating Carl Chemansky, of Canton, in the finals of the tourney.

The Salem youth played the 18-hole course in 80, three strokes better than the score turned in by his opponent.

Indians Purchase Columbus Twirler

Columbus, Sept. 16.—Pete Jablonowski, right-handed twirler of the Columbus Senators and former Michigan university star, has been purchased by the Cleveland Indians. American League ball club, according to an announcement which had been made here today.

Approximately $20,000 in cash and a player are said to be involved in the deal. The Cleveland player, who will be taken in trade for the young pitcher, is to be selected at a later date.

The Cincinnati Reds recently made a determined attempt to purchase Jablonowski, but Judge Landis, baseball ruler, held that the Cincinnati club could not legally buy the player as he had been "farmed out" twice by that team.

WOODS and WATERS
by HOMER BOW

It is going to be a rather tough week on the ludovicianus.

At least that is what an ultra-scientific chap would say if a load from his scattergun happened to cause a fox squirrel to come tumbling (sans parachute) from the uppermost branches of a big hickory.

But to you and to myself we would be satisfied with the fox squirrel, which happens to be the one and same thing.

Legally the squirrel season opens today.

While squirrel have been game in the state of Ohio for many years with the exception of one, there are not as many take to the sport as do to rabbits.

Duck season is also ushered in today with but little shooting until chill winds start the large migratory flocks. I have seen some duck in the past few weeks—one flock of ten—but, the better part of the shooting will come a bit later on, nearer to the opening of rabbit season on Nov. 15.

After our long dry spell we have had sufficient rain to soften the woods carpet so that a hunter will be able to slip through the trees with less noise than a dry ground would permit.

Squirrel hunting should be good this year.

The rivers of Ohio have been the lowest, in many years during the past few weeks and fishing has been exceptionally good. The rains of the past week end, though, had a tendency to muddy up waters a bit and bring them nearer to the season's normal stage.

Channel caters seemed particularly hungry during the low stages and quite a number were caught.

Using medium sized minnow, I had better luck with them than at any time in the past few years.

Most people are becoming a great admirer of the channel cat, and some states have classified it as a game fish and protect it.

One of the greatest changes I have noted in the rivers to the south is an ever increasing number of small muskies. This season I have taken, and released, quite a few while setting for bait in the larger streams.

65 Prospects Out For Football At Wellsville High

Wellsville, Sept. 16.—More than 65 candidates reported to Coach Dave Evans for practices at Wellsville High during the last two weeks, but despite this fact, the Orange and Black mentor still refuses to discuss the season's prospects.

Promising talent in the list of prospects includes Wyper and A. Williams, tackles of more than ordinary ability, and Sheckler and M. Williams, the team's two star halves of a year ago. Then there are Daugherty, Shanks, Reavey, Reynolds, and Nelson for the line, and Patella, Walker, Haugh, Kessler, Morrison, and Manning, backfield men, left from the 1928 second string squad.

Nine games are on the Wellsville schedule, the opening contest coming at Beaver, Pa., next Saturday. Salem, Chester, Carrollton, Toronto, Lisbon, Leetonia, and East Liverpool are other foes.

FRENCH WOMEN GAINING ON MEN IN PROFESSIONS

Fast Becoming Equal To Male Sex In Many Positions

Paris, Sept. 15.—That French women are fast becoming the equals of men in all professions is more fully illustrated by the recent election of young Mademoiselle Annette Carre as Secretary of the Junior Bar, a distinguished position which held 54 men in the first five years of its history. Annette Carre is a young lawyer in the first five years of her practice who have shown themselves the most eloquent pleaders in various contests that are held throughout the year.

Mademoiselle Carre, daughter of a retired colonel, is one of the most brilliant "stagiaires" France has ever known and seems to have the makings of a great lawyer. She is young and pretty, with long, wavy, auburn hair framing her face. Doctor of Laws at a very early age, she has three times been a winner in the Paris Law Faculty competitions. Her recent election undoubtedly foreshadows future fame.

A plot of ground near the spot where the revolutionists' guillotine chopped off aristocratic heads will become United States territory on Jan. 1, 1930.

On this plot, the northwest corner of the Place de la Concorde, will rise the new American Embassy. The Consular service and other public offices will also be housed in this building.

The government will take possession of the site on the first of the year and the building will be completed in 1932, according to Rep. Milton William Stryver, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the subcommittee on appropriations for the department of state and the department of commerce.

Coming to Paris on business connected with the new embassy Rep. Stryver said:

"The building will cost $1,114,000 and it will be constructed on the same architectural lines as the Roshild mansion which housed the Cordier de l'Union Artistique on this site for many years."

"We have now 30 projects in view to provide suitable quarters for the foreign service."

Life will be sweeter in Paris this winter for the French Chamber of Deputies has recently reduced the tax on sugar and thus extremely necessary article will be one half of a cent cheaper to the pound than it has been for some months past. This makes one whole cent on the kilogram which is an appreciable amount to the housekeeper at the jam-making season, and to the café-keeper who sometimes begrudges that extra lump to some of his sweet-toothed customers.

COURT NEWS

Court Restrains J. P.

When Upton Brownfield appeared before Justice of the Peace J. O. McCord at West Point Sept. 4, a defendant in a civil action filed against him by the National Acceptance Co., and refused to confess judgment, McCord threatened to commit him to the county jail until he gave an appeal bond, according to a petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney W. W. Beck. The defendants in this suit are McCord, James Whitehead, constable of Madison township, and the National Acceptance Co.

In the absence of Judge W. F. Lones, a temporary restraining order has been issued against the three defendants by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle from levying any execution.

Brownfield claims in his petition that he waited for an hour in the court room for the National Acceptance Co. representatives to appear, but none did. McCord then insisted that Brownfield confess judgment on a note that was not in evidence. Brownfield was prepared to set up a defense.

A contrary judgment for $157 and costs was entered by McCord against Brownfield, and then Brownfield retires that the court threatened to commit him until an appeal bond was filed, for which no law exists.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

—By Wanda Barton—

To eat, sleep and entertain in a single room was once considered a rather Bohemian way of living. Only "bachelor" or poverty-stricken couples led this makeshift existence, and it wasn't particularly comfortable though it might be quaint. But today it is quite different. What looked like an old plan might be anything from a folding bed to a china closet. An acre was indispensable.

However, far from being old-fashioned, the one-room idea has grown in popularity, and today it is by no means the cheapest way of living. In fact, a friend who recently went apartment-hunting in a fashionable district was told by a candid realtor that he couldn't supply the demand for one-room apartments, but that five and six-room places at the same rental were a drag on the market.

There is a reason—in fact several. When a wife remains in business, as a growing number do, the one-room apartment is the simplest solution to easy housekeeping. Also, it is in the long run less expensive than renting and furnishing large quarters. And many business folk who have to be in the city all week long toward annual convention of a real home—a house in the country or the suburbs. That means saving money and energy to put into the "farm" at week-ends and treating the home in town as a hotel room.

Builders are cooperating energetically and ingeniously with this idea. The one-room modern apartment may be small but it is complete and comfortable within its limits. It looks like a living room with its walls paneled or papered appropriately. There may also be a specially built desk to contain the real, full-size bed that folds out easily at night—a superior convenience to the old-time three-in-one.

THE HOME KITCHEN

—By Jeannette Young Norton—

To tempt one into eating more raw fruit and few of us eat enough of it, a bowl of pears should be kept convenient and conspicuous. It's the kind of fruit which should be eaten between meals, because a large, juicy pear always seems too much for a dessert. (Nevertheless, one of the favorite dishes offered to top off an excellent Italian dinner is a luscious big pear accompanied by a triangle of Camembert cheese, and the custom is to eat them together.)

"Pears" means Bartlett or Seckels or Winter Nels to most of us, but as a matter of fact these are only three of the eighty-odd varieties. Pears come in many shapes and sizes, and while they were once an exclusive Summer fruit with a limited season, we can now get some kind of pear in almost every month of the year.

Pears should be judged by soundness, and not necessarily by color. If a pear shows even a slight spot or blemish, it may be worse when cut open. The desirable fruit is of good size suitable to its variety and firm to the touch. Even if it looks fairly green it is quite safe to purchase. Left in a cool place for a few days the pear will ripen beautifully. But once ripe, it should be eaten at once, because at that point decay sets in rapidly.

The best way to eat pears is raw. But when there is an abundance of them and the au naturel method gets tiresome, they can be served in many other ways. They are excellent as fruit cup or fruit salad, and the large Bartlett are the best species for this kind of service. For preserving the Seckel pears are very good. If raw fruit is on the forbidden list—as it is for some persons—pears may be stewed, and instead of using sugar for sweetening, add the juice of sweet oranges. This improves the appearance and flavor and is more wholesome than adding sugar.

When serving pears as a salad one must be careful not to combine with too pungent ingredients. The flavor of pears while delightful is faint and easily overwhelmed. However, the right kind of combination will develop instead of drowning the flavor. Pears and bananas somehow blend well without loss of flavor to either. But the more common habit of putting a ball of cream cheese atop a raw pear rather squashes the fruit. Also, if pears are mounded on lettuce as salad the dressing should be French with lemon, not vinegar. Endive which is the most delicate of the salad plants is a better combination with pear than the coarser romaine or leaf lettuce.

Pickled Pears
8 pounds Seckel pears,
6 pounds sugar,
6 lemons,
1 pound ginger root.

The pears are peeled but the stem left on. Place in a large saucepan and add just enough water to prevent burning. Cook over a slow fire for an hour. Remove pears and add to the liquid in the saucepan the juice of the lemons, also the peeled rind of four lemons, sugar and pounded ginger root and cook for ten minutes. Then add the pears and continue cooking over a very slow fire for another hour. If desired a clove can be stuck in each pear before it is added to the liquid. This gives a more pungent flavor, very pleasant if you happen to like cloves.

Pack in sterilized small tumblers and when cool seal with paraffine. Excellent to serve with roast lamb, pork or cold meats.

Boston Installs Traffic Regulators

Boston, Sept. 16.—A synchronized system of traffic lights which will enable motorists to traverse the congested sections of the city at a rate of 15 miles an hour without a single stop is now being installed in downtown Boston.

Owing to the great difficulty encountered in installing underground cables and conduits several more months will be required to complete the installation of the new system. Special conduits are being laid, carrying enough cables to provide room for future changes in the wiring.

Numerous difficulties have been encountered in the installation of the light conduits, especially on Tremont st. There the subway runs so close to the street surface that it is practically impossible to find room for the running conduits.

According to the plan now under consideration, the traffic light system will be operated at one rate of speed during the day, and at another once the daytime rush has abated. Traffic may be speeded up or slowed down by adjusting the lights. The control box for the entire system will be located in the basement of the City Hall Annex. The speed rate can be cut down considerably on days when sleet, rain or snow make driving conditions unfavorable.

IT'S folly to suffer long from neuritis, neuralgia, or headaches when relief is swift and sure, with Bayer Aspirin. For 28 years the medical profession has recommended it. It does not affect the heart. Take it for colds, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago. Gargle it for a sore throat or tonsillitis. Proven directions for its many uses, in every package. All drug stores have genuine Bayer Aspirin which is readily identified by the name on the box and the Bayer cross on every tablet.

50 DEGREES
is more than the mark on a thermometer

To many people 50 degrees means a mark on a thermometer, but to those who know, it is a blazing signal.

A few degrees above fifty and bacteria multiply with speed... foods become contaminated.

The General Electric Refrigerator always automatically maintains a temperature several degrees below fifty.

The cabinet of the General Electric is all steel, strong, warp-proof and very easy to clean. All the mechanism is hermetically sealed in a steel casing, dust-proof and mounted on top. Visit our display rooms.
